

18 November 2014

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE:

Surelock McGill Opens First Office in the United States

Lexington, Kentucky, United States, Wednesday, November 12, 2014

Surelock McGill, a high security door hardware manufacturer based in Wokingham, England, celebrated the opening of its first ever sales and distribution office in the United State Wednesday night.

The office, located at 2380 Fortune Drive in Lexington, Kentucky, will handle sales, distribution, and technical support for North America.

John McGill, Surelock McGill President and Group Managing Director said during the event, "We were aware that Central Kentucky was the high security capital of the United States, and as time moved on we were introduced to more and more great people from Kentucky. Most have since become good friends. Soon it was apparent that Lexington was the only choice for us."

John McGill and Lexington Mayor Jim Gray

FROM LEFT: Mike Clark, David Dunbar Jones, Stephen McGill, David Milne, Marko Popov, Governor Steve Beshear, John McGill, Robert McCluney, James Stewart

Surelock McGill Group is Europe's leading company in specialized locking solutions. With headquarters in Wokingham, United Kingdom, the group designs and manufactures products for markets requiring high-level forced entry, fire, blast, and ballistic protection. For 50 years, the Surelock McGill Group's products have combined high security, quality, and access controlled free egress to meet stringent life safety requirements.

Surelock McGill's customer base covers a wide spectrum of end-users including national infrastructure, financial institutions, petro-chemical, off-shore, as well as industrial and retail customers. They combine independent testing with the certification of their products by some of the world's leading test laboratories including the Underwriter's Laboratories (UL).

Please address any inquiries to info@surelockmcgill.com.

###

Directors: John McGill (Group President & CEO); Mike Clark (General Manager & COO); Annette Bambrook (Finance Director); Stephen McGill (Vice-President)